

Humanities at The Walnuts

Humanities play an important role in the overall school curriculum and in inter-curriculum skills.

Teaching Humanities develops pupils understanding of themselves, the people around them, their communities and the wider world.

Humanities promotes opportunities for pupils to explore the world and their place within it.

Teaching pupils about people and events in the past helps them to comprehend the present and possible future outcomes.

Humanities promote the development of literacy skills, it improves their vocabulary and enhances their communication skills.

Pupils learn about similarities, differences and diversity. They learn about right and wrong, fairness and unfairness, justice and injustice. Their growing understanding helps them make sense of the world and prepares them to play an active and informed role in society.

ICT is incorporated in Humanities through a number of avenues. It can be used as an interaction tool, researching information, the use of maps and presentation of both historical and geographical concepts.
